

WORKSHOPS & TALKS

The Graham Lowe Group Inc, and its President, Dr. Graham Lowe, creates customized workshops and presentations for executives, managers and employees, as well as for professional associations and unions. Workshops range in length from half-day and full-day to several days. These may include presentations, to meet learning goals, of up to one hour. Workshops actively involve participants in collaborative learning, problem-solving and planning. Participants are provided state-of-the-art ideas and tools – based on the latest evidence and successful practices – about their organization’s people challenges and are engaged to find creative solutions. A client’s organizational learning and change objectives, and strategic direction, guide our development of the agenda, presentation content and facilitation process. Workshop results often include participant-generated change strategies, visions and guiding principles, implementation plans and follow-up actions. We also can design pre-event materials to help prepare participants, conduct pre-event pulse surveys to identify key challenges and personal learning objectives, offer debriefings, and conduct post-event assessments.

Workshops and presentations are created and delivered by Dr. Graham Lowe, a leading expert on workplace and workforce issues. Experienced co-facilitators and other support personnel are available, depending on the client’s needs.

Positive feedback demonstrates that through expert content, presentation and facilitation, these events help participants to improve their work environment and organizational performance.
